

The Value of Labor Education in Promoting the All-Round Development of College Students and Its Implementation Path

Yuanyuan Sun^{1, a}, Zao Liu^{1, b}

¹Sichuan University of Science & Engineering, Zigong 643000, China.

^a237200340@qq.com, ^bzaolzao@qq.com

Abstract

Labor is the essence of human being, labor education has important value in promoting the all-round development of college students, whose value is mainly reflected in helping college students to establish correct labor values, providing ideological guarantee for the all-round development of college students, and giving play to the comprehensive education function, promoting the harmonious development of college students' body and mind. In order to realize the value of labor education, it is necessary to have an effective implementation path. By thinking about the implementation premise, participants, implementation process and result evaluation, a perfect implementation path can be formed, which can effectively improve the education effect of labor education in promoting the all-round development of college students.

Keywords

Development in an all-around way, Labor education, Value, Implementation path.

1. Introduction

Labor is the root of human beings, the foundation of human existence, the driving force of human development and the form of self-expression and self-affirmation. Human beings cannot be separated from labor. Labor is the essence of human beings, and labor promotes human growth and development. Marx gave a high evaluation of labor, he stressed that the all-round development of human should show the all-round development of human labor and ability. Labor education is highly valued, however, in the actual education, there are some phenomena such as not paying attention to labor education, taking labor education as punishment, understanding labor education as labor skill education and not paying attention to education of labor values. Labor education is marginalized and simplified. The main reason why labor education is neglected is that educators fail to understand the value of labor education, fail to find the important role of labor education in promoting the overall development of college students, and fail to think about the implementation path of labor education.

2. The Value of Labor Education in Promoting the All-Round Development of College Students

Marx highly affirmed the value of labor education, He pointed out in Das Kapital that future education, for all children of a certain age, is the combination of productive labor with intellectual education and physical education, which is not only a way to improve social production, but also the only way to make a person's all-round development. Labor creates value and is the creator of all wealth, of man himself, of beauty and of all culture. In the process of promoting the all-round development of college students, we should fully attach importance to the value of labor education, train college students to respect labor, love labor spirit, and develop the habit of labor practice.

2.1. To Set Up the Correct Labor Values and Provide Ideological Guarantee for the All-Round Development of College Students

In today's society, money worship, hedonism and egoism are affecting our students, some students have a desire to get rich overnight and reaping without efforts, they hate work, not willing to struggle, claiming themselves to be 'Buddhism like'—show low desire to anything around them, but in fact, it's just an excuse for their laziness and unwilling to work hard. The value of Worker's glory isn't stands in their mind at all.

The core of labor education is to help students establish correct labor values, to show students the important value of labor in promoting the all-round development of individuals, to realize that life is created by labor. Only by developing the values of respecting, loving and willing to work can we apply what we think and learn to practice in real life. Through labor education, the value of labor can be fully displayed to college students, so that they can form correct labor values, which can provide ideological guarantee for the overall development of individuals.

2.2. Give Full Play to the Comprehensive Education Function and Promote the Harmonious Development of College Students' Body and Mind

As the foundation of education and the cohesion point of promoting the all-round development of college students, labor education can realize the all-round development of students' moral, intellectual, physical and aesthetic work by virtue of labor, increasing their intelligence by labor, strengthening their body by labor, cultivating beauty by labor, and innovating by labor. Labor education can effectively promote the harmonious development of college students' body and mind by integrating the process of moral, intellectual, physical and aesthetic education and giving full play to the comprehensive educational function.

Only in the process of work to feel the fruits of labor is not easy, grateful for the hard work of workers, with practical action to taste the connotation of labor education, can truly do the ideological and moral internalization in the heart, externalization and practice. Intellectual education needs to test and develop in practice, and innovate the subject knowledge learned from books and classes, so that theoretical learning can truly achieve the essence of knowledge. Labor education pay attention to practical work, and the combination with sports, can give value to physical training, enhance the way of physical education. Aesthetic education is to educate students to form a correct aesthetic sense. The combination of labor education and aesthetic education can effectively promote students from material beauty to spiritual beauty, expand the abnormal aesthetic way that can only see the material surface to see the spiritual character behind the material, and improve their personal aesthetic accomplishment.

3. The Implementation Path of Labor Education in Promoting the Overall Development of College Students

In order to give full play to the value of labor education in promoting the all-round development of college students, it is necessary to see the rich educational connotation contained in labor education and find out the implementation path of labor education. Through the effective and comprehensive implementation path, the educational value of labor should be brought into full play to realize the educational vision of promoting the all-round development of college students.

3.1. Implementation Premise: to Meet the Interests of Students, Adapt to the Students Professional, Make Full Use of Local Resources

Today's college students are mostly post-00s. They were born in the new era of material wealth, ideological development and developed network. They grow up in the care of family members and pay more attention to their personal feelings. They live according to their own mind, only doing what they are interested in, indifferent to things that have nothing to do with themselves. According to the characteristics of The Times, labor education also needs to be adjusted to improve the implementation effect. First, students' interests should be fully considered. To integrate students' interest into the labor education, interest is the first motive force, is the best teacher, with interest, will inevitably lead students to take the initiative to participate in learning. The second is to meet the professional characteristics of students. There are huge differences between different majors in universities, each major has its own way of practice. Therefore, in the formulation of the labor education program, the professional nature should be considered as far as possible, the adaptation of professional characteristics, combined with professional education. Third, make good use of local resources. Combined with local resources can provide practice places for students to exercise their personal abilities, and it can also let students understand the real society, get close to real life, and realize the value of labor education.

3.2. Participants: Stakeholders Should Participate Together

Labor education is by no means the school can complete independently, labor education needs the school, the society, the family, the individual to participate in jointly. Labor education has the function of comprehensive education, which is related to moral, intellectual, physical and aesthetic education. In order to achieve the educational effect, we need stakeholders to work towards the same educational purpose. The absence of any one of the subjects will affect the educational effect.

Schools, as the leading role of education, play a crucial role. Labor education, especially labor values education, should be covered in every link of education. Society provides a realistic environment for education. The idea of disrespecting labor in society affects college students in various forms, this requires the state to do a good job in guiding the work of values, criticizing bad ideas, forming social values of respecting and loving labor, and fostering a positive atmosphere. The family is the closest contact of the educatees, the ideology of family members has a great impact on college students, family members should first recognize labor education, achieve a common understanding of labor to create a better life, encourage college students to participate in labor, and not separate labor education from other education. Individuals are the main subject of education. Only when college students understand the value of labor education from the perspective of ideology and actively participate in labor from the perspective of action can the value of labor education finally be realized.

3.3. Implementation Process: Pay Attention to the Variety of Forms and Rich Content

In the past, people simply understand labor education as labor skill education, which is mainly based on labor skill training in content and mainly based on physical labor in form. The simple understanding of labor education fails to bring into play the real value of educating people, and it also fails to mobilize the enthusiasm and initiative of college students to participate in learning.

The choice of labor education content should be based on the real life of college students. Starting from the needs of real life, the emphasis should be placed on the combination of moral education, intellectual education, physical education and aesthetic education. Give full play to the comprehensive educational value of labor education. The choice of form should keep up with times and students' interests. Not restricted by traditional forms of education. For example, we can publicize the spirit of labor creates a better life through the video of we-media themed with farming. Through the new media platform propagandizes the labor example, forms the example the education strength and so on. Various forms of education can effectively promote the enthusiasm of college students to participate in labor education.

3.4. Results Evaluation: The Evaluation Form Should Be Diversified, and the Evaluation Criterion Should Pay Attention to the Practical Education Effect

The establishment of result evaluation will affect the implementation effect of education, and the perfect and effective result evaluation can guide college students to actively and seriously participate in learning. If there is a deviation in the guidance of evaluation, it will lead to college students to participate in learning for the purpose of completing tasks, thus failing to achieve the due educational effect.

The evaluation of the results of labor education should be based on the practical effect of education, and the evaluation forms should be diversified. Through the examination of the labor results and the long-term observation of the labor process, combining with the individual situation of students, a variety of evaluation methods are developed.

4. Conclusion

Labor education has always been of great value in promoting the all-round development of college students. As an educator in the new era, under the background of the rapid development of information network and artificial intelligence, it is more necessary to recognize the value of labor education, correctly implement labor education, make good use of labor education in actual education, make labor education glow with the value of The Times, and continue to play its function. To promote the all-round development of college students in all aspects, and to realize the educational value of labor education.

Acknowledgements

Foundation of Sichuan University of Science & Engineering for Ideological and Political Education

References

- [1] Yuan Guiren, Yang Geng: Research on Marxist Theory of Human Science (Beijing Normal University Press, China 2017). p74-88.
- [2] Chen Lixuan, Liu Yanxin: The basic connection and value of labor education and moral, intellectual, and physical education, Journal of the Chinese Society of Education, Vol. 38 (2017) No.11, p73-76.
- [3] Tan Chuanbao: Three Theoretical Issues That Must Be Solved When Developing Labor Education [J]. People's Education. Vol. 70(2019) No.17, p34-35.
- [4] Tan Chuanbao: Understanding the Concept of Labor Education—How to Understand the Basic Connotation and Characteristics of Labor Education Concept, Journal of the Chinese Society of Education, Vol. 40 (2019) No.2, p82-84.