Abstract

It is an important political task to carry out party history learning and education for the current and future period. We must prevent five wrong tendencies: negative response, shallow taste of deadline, eager for quick success and instant benefit, formalism, disconnection between learning and application, and make efforts in the aspects of active action, deep understanding, perseverance, accuracy and pragmatism, and the integration of knowledge and practice, so as to better improve the quality of party history learning and education.

Party history learning and education; Wrong tendency; Political tasks; Quality effect.

1. Introduction

The 100 years of the Communist Party of China are extremely extraordinary, magnificent and worthy of our full study. Carrying out party history learning and education is not only a major event to celebrate the centenary of the founding of the Communist Party of China, but also a political responsibility that Party members and cadres must bear. At present, party history learning and education is being carried out in all departments, systems and fields with steady progress. In order to further promote the in-depth development of party history learning and education and better improve the quality and effect of it, five wrong tendencies must be prevented.

2. To Prevent the Wrong Tendency of Negative Coping, We Should Make Efforts to Be Positive and Effective

In recent years, in order to better improve the comprehensive quality and ability of Party members and cadres, the Party Central Committee has opened a series of special (theme) educational activities, and good results have been achieved. After experiencing the party's mass line education and practice activities, "three stricts and three realities" special education, "two studies and one do" learning education and the theme education of "never forget the original heart and remember the mission", some party members and cadres have shown slack mood to a certain extent, so they take a negative and perfunctory attitude towards this party history learning and education activity. We must pay attention to this tendency, strive to strengthen positive guidance, reverse the negative situation, and promote Party members and cadres to work hard on positive achievements. The majority of Party members and cadres must have a higher position and stronger consciousness, deeply understand the great significance and historical responsibility of the Party Central Committee in carrying out party history learning and education at key historical nodes, truly take party history learning and education as an important political task at present and in the future, take the initiative to think and study, strengthen planning and deployment, make careful arrangements, and pay close attention to the implementation. Only by taking the initiative, shouldering responsibilities, not waiting, adhering to integrity and innovation, highlighting work priorities and taking effective measures can we promote the deepening and implementation of party history learning and education.

3. To Prevent the Wrong Tendency of Be Satisfied with A Smattering of Knowledge on A Subject, We Should Make Efforts to Learn Deeply and Understand Thoroughly

To study the party's history and the party's innovative theory, we must not know a little, or take it out of context. We must correct our learning attitude, make great efforts to learn deeply, strive to carry forward the serious character and spirit to the end, and do not let go until we learn deeply and proficiently. We should thoroughly study and implement general secretary Xi Jinping's important exposition on party history, do solid work in studying the four designated learning bibliographies and other important learning materials that are good at studying party history, and insist on reading the original works, learning the original, understanding the principle, and strive to learn to understand and practice. We must firmly grasp the correct direction and establish the correct concept of party history. We should link up the study and research of the "four histories", so as to think in the study and improve in the summary. Through systematic learning, we should look back on the course of 100 years, deeply remember the great achievements, deeply experience the original intention of serving the people, deeply understand the great power of thought, deeply learn valuable experience, deeply inherit the great spirit, and constantly draw the wisdom and strength to move forward from the history of the party.

4. To Prevent the Wrong Tendency of Being Eager for Success, We Should Make Efforts in Persevere

The history of the Communist Party of China is the most vivid, richest, most infectious and persuasive textbooks, including "great wisdom", "great truth", "great pattern" and "great feelings", including theory, experience, spirit and law, which has a great enlightening and guiding function for reality. If we want to master the knowledge of party history comprehensively and systematically, and fully understand and integrate the party's theory, we will not be able to do it overnight. It's like eating food one mouthful at a time and taking the road step by step. The same is true of the study of party history. It is a process of accumulation over time, step by step and from shallow to deep. We must persevere and work for a long time. The majority of Party members and cadres should calm down to study, sink down to think, resolutely prevent and overcome the mentality of being eager for success, consciously take the study of party history as a spiritual pursuit and a living habit, integrate it into their daily work and life, and maintain a scientific and reasonable learning rhythm. Only by being down-to-earth, unremitting and starting from the beginning to the end, can we ensure that the study of party history really has harvest, quality and level.

5. To Prevent the Wrong Tendency of Formalism, We Should Make Efforts in Precision and Pragmatism

General Secretary Xi Jinping pointed out at the Party History Learning And Education Mobilization Conference that formalism and bureaucracy should be resolutely overcome and attention should be paid to reducing the burden for the grass-roots level. To carry out party history learning and education, we should not go through the motions. We should not judge and evaluate the quality simply by how many meetings we have made, how many documents we have deal with, how many activities we have carried out, how many reading notes we have copied, must be strictly in accordance with the party central decision-making deployment, closely integrated with reality, in the precision and pragmatic efforts. We should actively innovative ideas, formulate plans, optimize the allocation of resources, enrich carrier methods, do a good job of publicity and reporting, pay attention to summary and promotion, and implement classification guidance and precise guidance for different levels, different fields and different object characteristics, be good at making practical moves, seeking new tricks, bright tricks, constantly improving the relevance and effectiveness, enhancing attractiveness and appeal, so that the party history learning education better into the mind. To accurately grasp the "prescriptive action", carefully plan the "self-selecting action", and strive to achieve "the prescribed action is in place", "self-selecting movement is to make color", to ensure that party history learning and education achieved solid results.

6. To Prevent the Wrong Tendency of Disjointed Learning and Application, We Should Make Efforts to Integrate Knowledge with Practice

General secretary Xi Jinping emphasized that we should combine learning party history with summarizing experience, reflecting on reality and promoting work, and turn learning results into work motivation and results, and prevent the "two skins" of learning and work. We must be soberly aware that simply for the sake of learning without paying attention to effectiveness, obviously, it does not meet the original intention and requirements of the Party Central Committee to carry out party history learning and education. Therefore, in the party history learning and education, we must resolutely prevent the tendency of disconnection between learning and application, and effectively achieve the unity of learning and use. The mass of party members and cadres should closely focus on the center, serve the overall situation, pay attention to strengthening overall planning, scientific arrangements for deployment, combine learning party history with learning and implementing general secretary Xi Jinping's important speech and important instructions spirit, with learning Xi Jinping Thought on Socialism with Chinese Characteristics for a New Era, with implementing the key tasks of the "14th Five-Year plan", and with solving practical problems for the masses, etc. By learning party history, we can know political loyalty, firm faith, people's feelings, responsibility, struggle spirit, constantly improve our ability to understand the overall situation, prevent risks and meet challenges, so as to promote the implementation of practical work with the good results of learning and education, and test the effect of learning and education with excellent work achievements.

7. Conclusion

In short, the world has never changed so much in a hundred years. China has entered a crucial stage in realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. Carrying out party history learning and education is a major strategic decision made by the CPC Central Committee. Party history learning and education will be throughout the year 2021, let us unite more closely around the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China with Comrade Xi Jinping as the core, combine party history learning and education with deeply studying and implementing of general secretary Xi Jinping's important speech in celebrating the 100th anniversary congress of the Communist Party of China, with the central work of various departments. With the new progress and achievements of the party history learning and education, we will vigorously promote the completion of various goals and tasks throughout the year 2021, living up to the times, history and the people what have great expectations and trust in us.
