The third volume of China's paramount leader Talks on State Governance covers important content such as the "heart" dimension of people's happiness, strengthening cultural self-confidence, and long-term path selection for party spirit education in the new era. For the education of the core values of socialism, we must first integrate the current socialist development and the reality of mainstream culture, and fully integrate the multiple advantages of contemporary socialism with Chinese characteristics, so as to provide a good basic environment for cultivating the cultural self-confidence of the masses. In order to guide the value development in the right direction, at the same time improve the relevant regulations and systems, and correctly treat the contradictions and problems in the development process [1]. At the same time, we must adhere to the basic direction of focusing on the people, adhere to the maintenance of social fairness and justice as the focus, and establish institutional systems and mechanisms for government effectiveness supervision and evaluation, market behavior guidance and supervision, social interest expression coordination, and the cultivation and promotion of socialist core values. Effectively meet the legitimate interests and concerns of all social groups, especially low-income groups, maintain the authority of the system, ensure the effective operation of the system, enhance the people's awareness of mutual benefit and common development, and transform the interests in the system into socialism with Chinese characteristics Core values and confidence in socialist culture. Deeply understand, adhere to and strengthen the overall leadership of the party, strengthen the "four consciousnesses", strengthen the "four self-confidence", and achieve "two safeguards"; adhere to and improve the socialist system with Chinese characteristics, and promote the modernization of the national governance system and governance capabilities, Adhere to the people-centered development concept, always put the people in the highest position, fight the fight against poverty, and fully complete the tasks of decisively building a well-off society in an all-round way; adhere to the bottom line thinking, enhance the awareness of danger, improve prevention and control capabilities, and focus on prevention and resolution Significant risks; a deep understanding of the world is undergoing major changes unseen in a century, accurate grasp of the world's mighty pulse, etc., are all very important practical issues [2]. General Secretary China's paramount leader once pointed out that in order for the whole country to achieve the established development goals, it is necessary to firmly grasp both material and spiritual hands and be strong at the same time. From the perspective of learning, practice is the driving force and foundation of knowledge, and it is the only standard for testing knowledge and truth. We should always adhere to the correct understanding of practice and effectively use the practice cycle, that is, "practice-knowledge-practice again." -Re-knowing", to repeatedly scrutinize, form a correct understanding, and then establish scientific and practical values [3].

2. The Current Problems in the Moral Education of College Students in Our Country

The current psychological characteristics of college students in my country mainly include uniqueness, contradiction, easy guidance, and poor stability. First of all, the uniqueness of the group psychology of college students is reflected in the fact that this generation is deeply baptized by Western consciousness, and there is a gap between the corresponding Western thinking and the traditional Eastern thinking. Therefore, there are also large individual differences among college students. The desire to express its own uniqueness is very strong. In terms of ambivalence, it is mainly manifested in the level of personal cognition of life. On the one hand, contemporary college students pay great attention to the performance of individuality and are obsessed with the pursuit of independent self-awareness. On the other hand, they also attach great importance to the individual's social environment. In the evaluation, they are very concerned about the trend of changes and the maintenance of interpersonal relationships. In fact, there is a huge contradiction between the two. If things go on like this, they will think that the environment restricts their personality development, but they dare not undertake to break through the current environment. Possible consequences. Although some college students have a relatively high level of knowledge and theory after long-term study, they are deficient in their pursuit of dedication to society and the motherland. They want to oppose the students' pursuit of personal interests and individual-centered hedonism. Contemporary college students also have the characteristics of being easily guided. Although college students already have certain life experience, in fact, this kind of experience is more of school life experience, and there is a big gap between the real situation in society. Real life lacks cognition. Many college students will appear to be susceptible to the guidance and influence of public opinion and the opinions of authoritative personnel. Not only that, this feature coexists with college students unstable mentality, and the combination of the two can easily lead to college students It is easy to be led by wrong thoughts in daily life.

Since the convening of the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, the moral education of college students has really attracted the attention of domestic educators at the implementation level. Through the in-depth study of the content of Volume 3 of China's paramount leader Talk on State Governance, it can better help college students to have an in-depth understanding of the concept of socialism with Chinese characteristics, grasp the basic context of current Chinese social development, and have a better understanding of patriotism and family and country feelings. In-depth cognition, multi-angle and multi-directional help college students to better carry out work, manage life, and make their own contributions to social development [4].
