Abstract

The Party branch of college students is an important position and powerful lever for cultivating new talents of the times. This article closely revolves around the perspective of educating all employees, the entire process, and all aspects, exploring the construction of a "Six in One" education system and the establishment of a "12345" guarantee mechanism, to promote a new pattern of student party branch education.

Keywords

Three Comprehensive Education; College students; Party branch; Education.

1. Introduction

Building the "Three Comprehensive Education" system is an important focus for universities in China in the new era to implement the "moral education and talent cultivation" policy, and is an inevitable requirement for running higher education that satisfies the people. College students are the hope of the nation, the future of the motherland, and the main force for achieving the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. College student party members, as the backbone and advanced elements of the student community, have a leading and exemplary role. As grassroots party organizations in universities, college student party branches are important positions to strengthen ideological education and value guidance for college students, and integrate the "three comprehensive education" into the work of college student party branches, It is conducive to deepening ideological and political education into all aspects of branch member education and teaching management, and constructing a new pattern of student party branch education.

2. The Current Situation of Education for College Student Party Branches

2.1. The education team of the Party branch needs to be strengthened

The survey shows that the vast majority of student party branch secretaries are held by full-time counselors or administrative personnel. However, due to the heavy workload of student management and teaching and research management, the work of branch secretaries only stays on the surface of organizing work and carrying out activities, and there is less attention, thinking, and exploration to the effective play of the branch's educational function. Moreover, student branch secretaries are mostly held by young teachers with limited work experience and weak professional abilities, lacking top-level design for branch construction and fulfilling educational responsibilities.

2.2. The Party branch's education methods need to be improved

According to a survey, the current activities of student party branches are mostly focused on the scripted dissemination of theoretical knowledge. On the one hand, they fail to combine the actual needs and growth patterns of college students to carry out theoretical learning, resulting in poor learning outcomes; On the other hand, the failure to combine the hot topics of the times and professional characteristics to carry out branch practical activities that are close to life and reality has led to a single form of branch work and activities, resulting in insufficient connection between theoretical education and practical education.

2.3. The effectiveness of party branch education needs to be stimulated

The investigation shows that some branches have an unreasonable and non-standard phenomenon of emphasizing traces and neglecting actual achievements. At the same time, there is a lack of effective assessment mechanisms, targeted incentive mechanisms, and effective information technology means in their work, resulting in simple and repetitive work in the branches and handling problems, leading to a lack of sense of belonging among branch members, making it difficult to mobilize their enthusiasm, initiative, and creativity, and to play a pioneering and exemplary role among branch members, This has affected the improvement of the quality of branch education.

3. New Connotation of College Student Party Branch Education from the Perspective of "Three Comprehensive Education"

As the grassroots party organization that directly connects with student groups, the student party branch in universities has the dual characteristics of "university students" and "party branch". It can not only directly educate and manage branch members, but also effectively unite and serve other ordinary students, which is the essence of the "three comprehensive education" in universities. In this era, the educational function of university student party branches is endowed with the connotation of a "new era", which includes cultivating new people who take on the responsibility of national rejuvenation, strengthening political functions to stimulate the vitality of party branches, enhancing organizational strength to enhance the attractiveness and infectivity of party branch work, strengthening the standardization and standardization construction of party branches, and cultivating college students into those with firm ideals and beliefs, noble moral qualities, and profound knowledge foundation A new generation of healthy physical and mental health, comprehensively improving the quality of the construction of party branches for college students in the new era.

4. The Practical Significance of The Concept of "Three Comprehensive Education" for the Education of College Student Party Branches

4.1. The necessary path to implement the fundamental task of cultivating morality and talent in universities

Under the new situation of "three comprehensive education", college student party branches should fully leverage their unique characteristics and advantages, use party building to lead youth league building, and leverage the leadership, organization, cohesion, and service capabilities of branch members in the student community. This will achieve the collaborative linkage of "party branch, youth league branch, and class", combining theory and practice, experience and innovation, Maximize the coverage of the education scope of the student party branch in universities, and promote the improvement of the quality of education in universities.

4.2. Necessary Methods for Enhancing the Cohesion of Student Party Branches in Universities

Under the guidance of the overall goal of "three comprehensive education", the student party branch of universities, with institutional construction as the starting point, mobilizes all human resources to achieve "full staff education"; Through various links such as enrollment education, school learning, and graduation planning, we aim to achieve "all-round education"; Taking party building and ideological and political education as the premise, we will work together to organize various aspects such as life, practical education, theme education, alumni culture, and online media to achieve "all-round education".

5. The Practical Path of the Educational Function of University Student Party Branches from the Perspective of "Three Comprehensive Education"

University student party branches focus on giving full play to political leadership, enhancing political and organizational functions, constructing a "six in one" education system, establishing a "12345" guarantee mechanism, and cultivating "patriotic, inspirational, truth seeking, and practical" and "diligent, moral, discerning, and conscientious" college students. They effectively utilize the members of the branch in ideological education, professional learning, volunteer service, social service, and social practice Demonstration and leading role in employment and entrepreneurship.

5.1. "Six in One" Education System -- Strengthening the Cohesion of Party Branch Work

Based on the psychological characteristics and growth patterns of contemporary college students, party branches in universities carry out their work, adopting the form of affinity that college students aspire to, close to reality, life, and branch members, establishing and improving the "six in one" party branch education system, playing the role of party branches in guiding college students' thinking, and cultivating college students with firm ideals and beliefs, noble moral qualities, and profound knowledge and skills A new generation of healthy physical and mental health.

(1) Taking political construction as the leadership and consolidating the foundation of the branch. The Party branch is based on ideological and political construction, and closely revolves around the goal of "fully leveraging the role of student Party branches as battle fortresses and the vanguard and exemplary role of Party branch members", requiring the construction of an education system.

(2) Focus on ideological construction and solidify the soul of the branch. The Party branch implements the branch learning system and conducts political theory learning through a combination of offline and online centralized learning and discussion, as well as individual self-study, to improve the ideological awareness and theoretical level of branch members.

(3) Based on organizational construction, enhance the strength of the branch. The Party branch carries out various activities that combine professional learning, volunteer service, social practice, and employment and entrepreneurship, achieving unity of knowledge and action, and widely playing a role of role model in the activities.

(4) Taking institutional construction as a clue, improve the chapter of the branch. The Party branch focuses on improving its organizational strength, forming a complete work system and mechanism, and providing strong guarantees for the development of the Party branch.

(5) Guided by the construction of work style, we will rectify the style of our branches. The Party branch adheres to the policy of putting prevention first and education first, focusing on typical demonstration education and warning education, and promoting the healthy development of the Party branch.

(6) Taking disciplinary construction as a guarantee and strictly enforcing branch regulations. The Party branch conducts a comprehensive analysis of its work, study, life, and ideological situation every six months, conducting sincere self-criticism and frank mutual criticism, deeply analyzing problems, and clarifying the direction of efforts.

5.2. "12345" Guarantee Mechanism -- Improving the Combat Power of Party Branch Organizations

College student party branches focus on adhering to the guidance of party building, leveraging the role of party branches as fortresses, building a comprehensive education platform, creating an atmosphere for all staff education, and achieving long-term education throughout the entire process. They establish and improve the "12345" party branch construction guarantee mechanism, continuously strengthen and improve the work of student party branches, and build the party branch into a strong fortress for organizing, promoting, condensing, and serving students.

(1) One guidance -- Adhere to the guidance of party building. The Party branch should do a good job in top-level design, starting from strengthening the construction of the branch, focusing on the education of branch members, strengthening the foundation, highlighting key points, establishing norms, establishing models, and creating brands, establishing a systematic, comprehensive, networked, and high-quality "four modernizations" development model, leveraging political and organizational advantages, making the Party branch's ideological guidance more powerful, moral education more effective, and educational management more warm.

(2) Two brands -- Play the role of a battleground. On the one hand, the Party branch aims to create a brand effect by implementing the "Party Flag Navigation Project". The Party branch carries out a series of activities such as "standing under the Party Flag as soon as possible, keeping the Party Flag in my heart, and adding glory to the Party Flag", firmly establishing the leading position of Party building in student work, comprehensively driving ideological and political education, class style and learning style construction, campus culture construction, stability and safety, and achieving the goal of "cultivating talents". On the other hand, we will implement the "Four One Project", which includes creating a themed practical activity for the Party branch, leading a class with a Party group service, building a civilized dormitory for a branch member, and helping a backward student with an active member. We will leverage the role of the Party branch as a battleground, the vanguard and exemplary role of branch members, and the demonstration and driving role of party joining active members.

(3) Three platforms -- Polishing and all-round education platforms. The Party branch has established theme activity platforms, social practice platforms, and online new media platforms to assist in all-round education and carry out education work from all aspects. Deepen the construction of themed activities, allowing all students to resonate and engage in synchronous activities, and mobilizing students' enthusiasm and initiative; Participate in winter and summer social practice, enter the grassroots, understand the grassroots, serve the grassroots, and improve professional literacy; Open the official account and use the Easy Class to publicize theoretical ideas, tell about the "power of example" to set up advanced models, and fully rely on new media to create an educational platform.

(4) Four dimensions -- Building a team for educating all employees. The Party branch consolidates the consensus and strength of all teachers and students, builds a "four dimensional" collaborative education system consisting of leading cadres contacting the branch, selecting strong and excellent Party branch secretaries, promoting and guiding teachers, and leading and demonstrating peers, promotes the coordinated development of Party building and professional construction, and student training in the branch, creates an excellent student team with excellent comprehensive qualities, and creates an atmosphere for all staff education.

(5) Five projects -- Connecting the entire process of educating people. The Party branch grasps key time points and runs through the entire period of students' school life, implementing new student enrollment education, training and education, graduation guidance planning, "Party branch, Youth League branch, class" coordination, and alumni feedback "five projects" throughout the entire process of educating students, promoting outstanding achievements and excellent examples in academic development, volunteer service, social practice, subject competitions, employment and entrepreneurship for college students, widely promoting and forming a demonstration effect, Implement a long-term education mechanism.
