1. Introduction

With the profound economic and social changes, in the new period, various western ideas and cultures continue to penetrate into China, making college students appear the spirit of hardship and struggle weakened, the integrity consciousness weakened, the lack of social responsibility, the ideal will weak, the political belief confused and other bad phenomena. Therefore, under the new situation, how to rely on the Communist Party to lead the thoughts of the Communist Youth League, promote the development of the work of the Communist Youth League in colleges and universities, and how to further exert the current influence, cohesion and creativity of the party and league organizations in the majority of students and young people have become an important issue in the work of the Communist Youth League in colleges and universities [1-3]. The Communist Youth League of China is a mass organization of advanced young people under the leadership of the Communist Party of China; it is a school where young people learn socialism with Chinese characteristics and communism through practice; it is the Party's assistant and reserve army." The Constitution of the Communist Youth League of China also clearly states that "the Communist Youth League of China implements the principle of Party management of youth, gives full play to the role of the Party as a bridge and link with youth, and does a good job for the Party in the work of the youth masses." It can be seen that the relationship between the party organization and the league organization is the relationship between the leader and the led, and the Party committee of higher vocational colleges should guide the work of the affiliated Communist Youth League and drive the development of the Communist Youth League, so as to promote the great project of party construction, which has a clear system logic to follow [4-6].

2. Current Situation Investigation

The connotation of college league construction is to guide young students to firm their ideals and beliefs, cultivate patriotic feelings, and give play to the ideological leading role of college Communist Youth League; Make use of new media and other modern means to do the Party's youth mass work well; Carry out a series of campus activities and social practice activities to enrich students' extracurricular life. The Communist Party leads the Communist Youth League, and "belt" is the key to promote construction with belt. Mainly do a good job in the "three belts", with ideological construction, organizational construction, and style construction [7-8]. This paper investigates Anhui Industrial Vocational and Technical College, which was founded in 1979 and began to hold higher vocational education in 2000. It is a municipal public higher vocational college approved by Anhui Provincial people's Government. Has won the "national May fourth Red Flag Youth League Committee" and other honorary titles. The college has 114 league branches and 2,010 members. The objects of the questionnaire survey are Party and league workers in colleges and universities, mainly the organization department of the university Party committee, the department of education and engineering, the school Youth League Committee, the Party committee of the secondary college, the Youth League committee and some members of the student party and league organizations. A total of 690 questionnaires were sent out, and 628 were effectively collected, with an effective recovery rate of 91%. From the results of the survey, it is easier to see the practical state existing in the Communist Youth League under the leadership of the Communist Party.

Higher vocational students have a three-year school system, and the surveyed students are mainly concentrated in the 1-2 grade school classes, of which only 0.1% are student party members. The third year is usually an off-campus internship. According to the training process of student party members, students often have the opportunity to be developed as probationary party members in the second year. Therefore, only senior students in the school have party members, the party branch has only teachers who are fixed, and other students have been placed in various internship sites while being developed as probationary party members. Student party members have less contact with the majority of students in school. On the one hand, the forms of party member education are mostly confined to meetings and discussions, and lack of innovation. Even if students have a high degree of recognition of the Party, their enthusiasm for the party's theoretical learning and party spirit learning is often reduced due to the boring forms of party branch activities; On the other hand, the number of party members has been greatly reduced, and the construction of student party members only focuses on the construction of party members' own party spirit education, and there is a lack of how to influence the masses by themselves. The party building of students is only used as a phased training for students, but the mass and influence of party members are ignored, which makes it difficult to enhance the appeal of party building of students. In daily work, the working mechanism of the Communist Youth League under the leadership of the Communist Party lacks systematism and continuity. The party organization mostly stops at conveying daily documents and activities to the youth league organization, and rarely carries out in-depth and long-term guidance. Such as the regular Communist Party leading the Communist Youth League guidance meeting, regularly listening to the work report and progress of the Youth League organization, fully listening to the views of the Youth League organization when joining the Party activists are promoted, these issues need to be improved.

3. The Communist Party leads the Communist Youth League work path work path

(1) Carrying out ideological and political work and maintaining a correct political direction

Ideological understanding is the premise and basis of the work of the Communist Party of colleges and universities leading the Communist Youth League. Only by recognizing the importance of the work of the Communist Party of colleges and universities leading the Communist Youth League, can we correctly guide practice and promote the substantive development of the work of the Communist Party leading the Communist Youth League. For example, in recent years, Anhui Industrial Vocational and Technical College has closely focused on greeting and learning to publicize and implement the Party's 20th Congress, further enhancing the pertinence of the Communist Youth League's ideological and political guidance. To meet the victory of the Party's 20th Congress and study, publicize and implement the spirit of the congress, and carry out theme activities such as essay solicitation, speeches, and artistic performances. Arouse the upsurge of learning and propagating the spirit of the Party's 20 Great Congress, through the organization of watching the live broadcast of the opening meeting of the 20 Great Congress, exchange and sharing meetings, etc., with the organization of the league branch to carry out learning and education as the basic way, through the special learning meeting, the theme of the league day, the organization of life and other centralized special learning, to achieve full coverage of the branch and the full coverage of the members. Carry out in-depth "youth learning" action and strengthen the construction of propaganda positions of the regiment. Promote the normalization and institutionalization of all youth political learning in league members, further promote the weekly "Youth learning" online theme group course learning, expand the learning coverage, and the average weekly learning rate of students reaches more than 130% of the number of league members, ranking among the best learning rate in the city. Timely push to young students current political news, ideological and political hot spots, league study trends and other articles. Deepen the training of league cadres and continue to carry out demonstration activities led by youth role models. Unremittingly armed the youth members of the academy with the latest achievements of Marxism in China. Give full play to the leading role of all kinds of youth role models, and actively carry out activities to strive for excellence inside and outside the school.

(2) Establish a long-term mechanism to implement the responsibility of the Communist Party to lead the work of the Communist Youth League

Anhui Industrial Vocational and Technical College to establish the party building assessment index system, guide and help the Communist Youth League to do a good job in its own construction, give full play to the role of league organization unity education youth and the role of the party's assistant. Points deducted include: 1. Failure to develop league members in strict accordance with the development plan, irregular procedures for the development of league members, and failure to comply with the relevant provisions in the Working Rules for the Development of League Members of the Communist Youth League of China. 2. The construction mechanism of the league branch is insufficient, the collection of league fees, the transfer and implementation of the league organization relationship are not good, and the working mechanism of rewards and disciplinary punishment for members is not sound. 3. The class League branch organization is not sound, the personnel is not in place, and the organizational construction is weak. The work of the Youth League General Branch has no plan, no summary, and poor statistical work. 5. The league organization's role in serving youth is not fully played, the ideological dynamics of young students and young teachers are not sufficiently grasped, the publicity and education activities are poorly carried out, the life system of the league organization is not implemented, the "three meetings, two systems and one lesson" of the league is not implemented, and there are no meeting records and learning records. 6. Ineffective guidance, supervision and management of various media platforms under the league, resulting in negative effects. 7. The organization of youth university learning is poor, and the learning rate is lower than the average of the whole school. 8. The student congress system has not been implemented, the student congress is not held in time, the procedures are incomplete, there is no work report, meeting minutes, election materials, etc. 9. The organization of the student union is not perfect, the work has no plan and no summary, the student cadre is over-staffed, the selection, assessment and training of student cadres are not standardized, and there is no corresponding selection and assessment mechanism. Failing to play its due role in safeguarding students' rights and interests.

(3) Strengthen the self-construction of the league, improve the organizational setup, and give play to the joint work of the Communist Party under the leadership of the Communist Youth League

Anhui Industrial Vocational and Technical College relies on the "wisdom group construction" system to consolidate the basic work. Strictly standardize the entry and review of the basic data of the "Wisdom group construction" system, and do a good job in the information management of "Wisdom group Construction" bid evaluation and grading, honor incentive entry, etc.; Strict the development process of league members, strengthen the education management after joining the league, strengthen the guidance and inspection of "three meetings, two systems and one lesson" of the league branch of each class, and enhance the synergy of class and league integration; We will standardize the promotion of candidates for Party membership. Strengthen the construction of league school cadres and implement the reform of student union organization; Adhere to strict governance of the group, temper the excellent spirit of the league, adhere to the weekly regular meeting of the student union cadres, real-time communication and supervision of the organization of the league school, guide the student union to connect with the relevant functional departments of the school, and actively participate in campus construction and management.

(4) Improving the ability of the Communist Youth League to serve young people, improving the effectiveness of the work of the Communist Youth League under the leadership of the Communist Party

Anhui Industrial Vocational and Technical College has further expanded volunteer service work, and the Party branch has led the Youth League branch to carry out solid social practice activities. Focusing on the actual needs, a series of voluntary service activities were carried out according to local conditions. We have carried out various types of voluntary service activities, such as civilized persuasion, old clothes recycling, unpaid blood donation, respecting the elderly, civilized cycling, etc. Adhering to the method of combining team centralized practice and individual decentralized practice, in accordance with the principle of "setting items according to needs, organizing groups according to items, and benefiting both ways", the college has established a registration system for the community youth home of the college league branch, taking the cold and summer vacation as an opportunity to organize returning college students to report to the community (village). It focuses on helping students alleviate practical difficulties and problems encountered in study and life, pays attention to the general interest demands of students, and improves the organizational channels and mechanisms for safeguarding students' rights and interests. Taking the work of centering on the college as the starting point, the Communist Youth League has further exerted its cultural education function. Create a fine campus culture, vigorously promote the construction of academic style, optimize the second classroom education system, and serve students to grow and become talented. Taking the reform of the comprehensive evaluation system for talent training of the college as an opportunity and the implementation of the "second class report card" system of the Communist Youth League as a starting point, the connotation construction of the second class has been strengthened. Relying on the "To Dream Space" management system, the league has further strengthened the organization, management and certification of the second class, and strengthened the platform management and the training and guidance of publishers. It strengthens the analysis and use of platform data, strengthens process management, continuously improves the scientificity of the operation and management of the second classroom, and gives full play to the important role of the second classroom in the talent training process of the college.

4. Conclusion

The work of the Communist Party of colleges and universities leading the Communist Youth League is that the grass-roots party organizations in colleges and universities strengthen their leadership over the grass-roots league organizations while doing a good job in self-construction, drive the construction of the grass-roots league organizations with the strong cohesion and combat effectiveness of the grass-roots Party organizations, enhance the vitality and vitality of the league organizations, and give play to the role of the league organizations as the Party's assistant and reserve army. Thus promoting the construction and development of grass-roots party organizations is an important work. Its main idea is to incorporate the construction of college league into the overall plan of Party construction, and to think, plan and carry out the work of the league as an important part of the party's work. That is, on the premise of carrying out the Party and league building work well, we should focus on adjusting the relationship between the party and league building work, that is, while the Communist Party leads the Communist Youth League, we should promote the party building work with the league building, so as to form a good interaction between the party and the league building.
